Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from How to Make Individual Dress-Forms Since the beginning of the last century there has been, among women who do their own dress-making, an increasing demand for dress forms. The first forms put on the market were the simple non-adjustable ones but since no two people have a form exactly alike they were found unsatisfactory. This obstacle of dissimilarity in people s forms was partly removed by the invention of the adjustable forms, and with the realization that there is such a difference in every person s shape, the number of parts of the adjustable forms has been increased to almost a score. This necessitated increase in the number of sections in the forms now on the market, alone proves that they do not come up to the standard of perfection. They fall far short of what they should be and what the home dress-maker would have them, the complete adjustability to the individuality of the person for whom the sewing is being done. While non-adjustable and adjustable forms are a great boon to dress-making and the adjustable forms are as near the goal of the individual form as mechanical devices can make them, yet no human ingenuity can devise a machine made form which can be adjusted to be the exact counter-part of each of the twenty million women in the U. S. no two of which I dare say have forms exactly alike. Hence the need of the individual dress form. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
