It is much to be regretted that one of the most extensive inland water communications in Ireland should not have a better outlet. The great danger of this port is the bar; this, however, appears capable of being greatly improved, by changing the entrance, and carrying it out direct across the Finner Rabbit Warren. This ought to be done at slight cost, if the work was combined with the intaking of the extensive foreshores of the estuary. (48.) Donegal Harbour.--In this estuary there are extensive foreshores, easy of being intaken. This should be combined with the improvement of the ship channel. There are also extensive tracts of seolian drift. (49, 50, and 51.) Loughros and Gweebarra Bays, and Sheephaven.--In and associated with the inlets of this portion of the Donegal coast,...
