Excerpt from Southern Pacific Company (Pacific System): Student Course in Railroading, June 1, 1914 This outline of work and reading in railroading is not intended to be a complete and exhaustive study of the subject. It is rather a laboratory course, to fit young men to assume positions of responsibility in the management of railroad affairs, and to equip them with a working knowledge of the several departments and their interrelation, so that they may be able to conduct the particular duties assigned to them in harmony with the scheme of railroading as a whole. The course is so designed that the first two years will cover the entire field of railroading in a general way. Thereafter there follows one and one-half years of special work in either Operation and Maintenance, Passenger and Freight Traffic, or Accounting. This plan has the merit of giving a general training in all of the principal departments of the railroad, and of imparting to the student the knowledge that is so necessary to conduct properly the work of any given department...
